5. Exceptions

- Prior intimation with valid reason (subject to manager/HR approval)
- Technical/logistic issues verified and accepted by HR
- Medical emergencies (documented proof required)

6. Disciplinary Action

- Repeated or habitual late coming may lead to:
 - Written warning
 - Escalation to performance review
 - Impact on appraisals or termination in extreme cases

7. Policy Review

This policy will be reviewed periodically and updated as per organizational needs.

14. Work From Home Leave and Permission Policy

1. Objective

To provide clear guidelines for employees working remotely regarding leave applications and permission for short-term absences, ensuring productivity and accountability are maintained.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all full-time and part-time employees who are approved to work remotely, either on a temporary or permanent basis.

3. Work From Home Guidelines

- Employees must be available and responsive during core working hours (10:00 AM – 7:00 PM).
- Attendance must be logged through the company's time-tracking or HR portal.
- Any deviation from normal working hours must be communicated and approved in advance.

4. Leave Policy During WFH

- All types of leaves (Casual, Sick, Earned, etc.) must be applied through the official leave management system.
- The employee must notify their immediate supervisor at least 1 day in advance for planned leave.
- In case of sudden illness or emergency, the employee must inform their manager as soon as possible.

5. Short-Term Permission

Employees may request short breaks during work hours for personal tasks. These are categorized as:

a. Planned Short Leave:

- For tasks such as medical appointments or errands.
- Must be approved by the reporting manager at least 1 day in advance.

b. Emergency Leave:

- In the event of unforeseen circumstances (e.g., internet outage, power failure, family emergency).
- Must be communicated to the manager immediately.

Note: Frequent or prolonged permissions may require documentation or discussion with HR.

6. Attendance and Accountability

- Managers may require check-in/out via communication tools (Teams, Slack, etc.).
- Regular progress updates or daily status reports may be mandated.

7. Misuse and Disciplinary Action

- Unauthorized absence or false reporting during WFH can lead to loss of pay or disciplinary action.
- Repeated misuse may result in revocation of WFH privileges.

8. Review and Exceptions

- HR reserves the right to review or modify this policy.
- Any exceptions must be approved in writing by the reporting manager and HR.

15.WFH Work Output & Productivity Policy

1. Objective

To ensure that employees working remotely maintain the same standards of productivity, accountability, and output quality as expected in an on-site work environment.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all employees authorized to work remotely, either full-time or part-time, on a temporary or permanent basis.

3. Key Principles

- Trust and Accountability: Employees are expected to self-manage time effectively and produce results with minimal supervision.
- Output Over Hours: The focus is on measurable outcomes rather than hours logged, unless otherwise stated by the team or department.
- Communication: Continuous, clear, and professional communication is essential to maintain team alignment and productivity.

4. Work Expectations

- Employees must define daily or weekly deliverables with their manager.
- Work hours should be aligned with team norms, unless flexible arrangements are approved.
- Employees should respond to messages (email, chat, calls) within a reasonable timeframe.

5. Productivity Measures

Managers may use the following to assess productivity:

- Task Completion: Quality and timeliness of deliverables.
- Daily/Weekly Reports: Brief updates on progress, blockers, and plans.
- Time Tracking: If applicable, usage of time-tracking tools must reflect active engagement.
- Meeting Participation: Timely and meaningful participation in scheduled meetings or check-ins.

6. Performance Monitoring

- Managers may review key performance indicators (KPIs), ticket systems Zoho Sprint, client feedback, and peer inputs.
- Tools such as CRM, project management software, or shared trackers may be used to log and monitor work.

7. Tools and Infrastructure

Employees are expected to:

- Maintain a stable internet connection and access to required software/tools.
- Use company-approved platforms for work communication and file sharing.
- Report any technical issues to IT support immediately.

8. Feedback and Reviews

- Regular one-on-ones or performance discussions may be scheduled to provide constructive feedback.
- Monthly or quarterly reviews may include evaluation of:
 - Efficiency and output
 - Initiative and problem-solving
 - Collaboration and communication

9. Underperformance Protocol

- If a drop in productivity is observed:
 - An initial discussion will be held with the employee.
 - A performance improvement plan (PIP) may be initiated.
 - Continued underperformance may lead to disciplinary action or WFH privilege revocation.

10. Policy Compliance

Non-compliance or misuse of WFH provisions may lead to:

- Verbal/written warnings
- Salary adjustments based on non-performance
- Termination of WFH arrangements or employment (in extreme cases)

11. Review and Revisions

- This policy is subject to periodic review.
- HR and leadership may update it based on operational needs or organizational goals.

Review and Amendments

This policy will be reviewed annually and may be revised based on business needs or legal changes.

Acknowledgment

All employees must sign an acknowledgment stating they have read and understood this policy.
